WEDNESDAY, SEP. 23, 1903.

Now it is Senator Beveridge, of Indiana, who in a strange town, contracted a bill and hadn't the money to pay and identifies himself with a bunch of railroad passes.

The feeling against negroes has reached such a pitch at Waterloo, Iowa, that, according to the newspaper reports, general notice has gone out to all living there that they must leave at once not to return.

Bishop Isaac W. Joyce, of Minnesota, favors the establishment of a chair of common sense in Methodist seminaries. Such institutions are not the only places where similar chairs are needed. Good common sense is often overlooked in the curriculum of universities and colleges.

A philanthropic organization in New York city has announced a plan to colonize 300 families of negroes from the South in each county in Indiana and Southern Michigan. In the regions named there are few negroes, and the whites are aroused over prospect of having the race question brought to their doors.

With the fat surplus in the treasury, the demand for improvements in various parts of the country and the willingness generally of congressmen to help each other out, there are indications that the coming session of congress will make Tom Reed's billion-dollar affair look like the enforced parsimony of hard times.

The last ship in from the Philippines brought over three hundred corpses—canceled Americans sent over as sight drafts to continue our payments for the possession and colonial government of the Filipinos. But these incidents are becoming so common as to attract scant public notice or comment. We have the Philippines and we must pay the price.

The President has abandoned the notion of calling Congress to meet in extraordinary session in October, and will summon the body for November 9, as originally proposed. The politicians don't want to have their public duties interfere with their political activities, and they won't be ready to look after the country's affairs until after the November elections.

The cotton exchange of New Orleans tries its hand at settling the extent of the cotton crop for this year, ending September 1. The crop for the season is estimated by the experts at 10,727,559 bales, against 10,680,680 last year, and 10,382,422 the year before, and 9,433,416 for the season 1899-90. The equality and evenness of the crop for the four years is the strange and improbable point of the figures.

When the noted statistician Mullah made his estimate of the world's wealth 10 years ago, the United States stood third in point of aggregate wealth, being exceeded by both England and France, and was sixth in wealth per capita. Today the aggregate wealth of the United States is nearly as great as the that of the combined wealth of the two next richest countries, England and France, both of which were richer than it a few years ago. According to figures lately compiled from apparently as reliable sources as are possible, the total wealth of the United States was in 1902 $24,000,000,000 or nearly one quarter of the accumulations of the whole world, while the wealth of England was $9,000,000,000, that of France $48,000,000,000 and of Germany $40,000,000,000.

The cup of the transgressions of Turkey seem to be full and running over, and it seems strange that this blot upon the world should longer be known and recognized as a government. Only from the jealousy of the great powers, each one fearing the others may get too big a slice of conquered territory, can we account for the continuance of the Turkish Empire. In other words, the Christian Powers (God save the mark), because of rivalry one with the other, have willingly stood by and seen fellow Christians tortured and murdered by the followers of the False Prophet. There will be, there must be, a day of reckoning for those who stand idly by and see this nation of rapists and murderers annually feasting themselves on the bodies and blood of the followers of the Cross. We, in America, can have little knowledge of the scenes of carnage and slaughter in what are known as the Turkish Provinces in Europe. It is time that all Christians should unite in a crusade to wipe this disgrace to the earth from the face of the earth. We believe the day is not far distant when divine vengeance will not only be meted out upon the Turk but upon those who have given him moral support in his outrages to mankind.

The Court of General Sessions for Lexington County convened last Monday morning, with special Judge Frank B. Gary, of Abbeville, presiding. The case of greatest interest is that of James H. Tillman for the murder of N. G. Gonzales. After some legal wrangling the trial was set for next Monday. The defendant is represented by nine attorneys and the Solicitor has four attorneys assisting him. There are about five hundred witnesses in the case, and it is believed that it will take ten days or two weeks to reach a verdict. There is great public interest in the proceedings throughout the country, and the case will be hard fought from the opening to the close.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

Special Correspondence of Intelligencer.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 21, 1903.

The lightning in the Post Office Department investigation is beginning to strike about in places close to the throne. Beavers, who have been himself up voluntarily after the police seemed to be unable to get him, has had Postmaster General Payne subpoenaed to appear as a witness in his case, and the P. M. G. promptly repudiates the subpoena and refuses to appear. He says he is sick, and must perforce spend a few weeks down at Virginia Hot Springs to recuperate his health. He probably knows too much of the doings of his private secretary, Mr. H. H. Knott, in connection with Beavers and Machen's industry in the grafting game in the Post Office Department, and does not desire to be questioned under oath. In fact, he is doing all in his power to stop the publicity of details of the Post Office Department scandal, and now he gives it out that the end is in sight and that there will be nothing more doing after the first of October. He knows full well that there are too many members of Congress and republican leaders mixed up in the matter who must protect the looters, and some of them too much dread an investigation to allow the matter to proceed further. Such a competent machine politician as the P. M. G. knows that the republican party cannot receive any more such hard knocks as it has received by even a small part of the scandal thus exposed to public view, and survive the coming election. How the republican leaders are praying that something will turn up to distract the minds of the public from this nasty mess. See how the Beirut incident was seized upon to take the minds of the people from the scandals cropping out in the administration of the affairs of government. The Panama Canal affair is also being used to get the minds of the people from the rottenness of the departments as administered by the republican party, but all in vain. Those little incidents are but the wonder of an hour, and the minds of the people wander back to their muttons, the scandals in departments at Washington. Like Barquo's ghost, they will not down, but return with persistence to plague an administration that is rotten to the core. The people have a specific for this cancer on the body politic if they will go to the polls and administer it. It is up to them.

The trusts are still in the saddle. The anthracite coal trust is advancing the price of coal again, though it is reported to have mined and stored some millions of tons more than can be sold this year, and yet this trust has such a monopoly that it can put up prices as it pleases. The wheat trust also gives notice that it intends to raise the price of its products to a level more in accord with the times and permissive of the garnering of larger profits. Congress last winter when the coal trust was a live issue, appropriated a special fund of $500,000 for the Department of Justice to use to prosecute trusts. Congress also provided for a number of assistant Attorneys General to prepare cases against the trusts. Many months have elapsed since this money and those attorneys were placed at the disposal of the administration, but no action has been begun. There is on file with the Attorney General more than one case against trusts, prepared by private enterprise, such as the case against the coal trust prepared by William R. Hearst, and the case against the tobacco trust has been on file for over two years, but it has reposed in a pigeon-hole in the department, and even the extra money and the extra help have been unable to drag it into court.

There seems to be nothing that can stop this insatiable greed of bloated trusts, except business depression. That with its resultant reduction in the people's purchasing power, will prove the only effective means to bring prices down again to a reasonable level so long as the republican party remains in the saddle. So far as legislatures and courts are concerned, they are, apparently, unable or unwilling to do anything to protect the consumers. Anti-trust laws passed by the law-givers are, as a rule, promptly and neatly knocked out by the judges, who seem to be exceedingly anxious to protect what they consider the constitutional rights of corporations. Did you ever hear of the constitutional rights of an individual? Never in your life. Some months ago, newspapers were full of statements to the effect that the Federal Government wouldn't do a thing to the pernicious, rapacious coal trust after Mr. William Randolph Hearst had put it in a hole, soaped the sides and pulled up the ladder. Well, what has been the result? Nothing. The coal trust is still doing business at the old stand and determined to give prices another boost this winter. Verily, the consumer is an unhappy lot. He pays double prices for the things he needs, and at the same time looks in vain for redress for grievances innumerable.

He boasts of constitutions which do not protect him, and of courts which consider it great sport to set at naught laws designed to safeguard the rights of the people. Extortion is the watchword all over this broad land of ours. There is none among consumers who can escape its arrogance and tyranny, none who can devise means to bring it to an end. Oh, prosperity, what sins and injustices are committed in thy name! And these will never stop until the republican party is kicked off the face of the earth, the unholy alliance between that party and the cornermen of the country is pulverized, and the democratic party allowed to rip the rocks off the tariff wall that grants special privileges to the favored few. When will the people act?
